

In the garden of life

In the garden of life, we start as a seed, with dreams in our hearts, waiting to be freed.
We grow with the sun,
our roots firmly set,
learning life's lessons,
never to forget.

As time passes by,
we branch out and rise,
facing the world with innocent eyes.
Growing up is a journey, a path we all take,
navigating challenges, decisions we make.

Blooming into adulthood, we spread our wings wide, embracing responsibilities, with courage as our guide.

Each day a new chapter, each moment a chance,
to shape our own story,
to lead our own dance.

So here's to growing up, to the journey we've begun, may we cherish the past and the battles we've won.

For being grown up is more than just years, it's about resilience, grace, and facing our fears.

In the maze of adulthood, confusion reigns,
lost in the sea of choices, decisions cause strain.

Uncertainty whispers, doubts start to creep,
navigating the unknown, through the valleys so deep.

Amidst the chaos,
a spark of hope shines bright, courage blooms within,
dispelling the night.

With each step forward,
fear starts to wane,
strength emerges from struggles, resilience we gain.

In the tapestry of life,
joy finds its place,
laughter echoes loud,
leaving a trace.

Memories of childhood,
nostalgia's sweet song,
reminding us of innocence, where we belong.

Growing up brings a mix of emotions so vast,
from love to heartache, from future to past.

Through the highs and the lows, we learn and we grow,
embracing each feeling, letting our true selves show.

Written by Sophie Pochert